THE PRESIDENT.

Special to the Gazette.
LONG BRANCH, Sept. 7.—Official 9 a. m. The Bulletin reported the President slept well after midnight, the fever subsiding. The morning temperature was normal. He has recovered from the fatigue and the abscess and wound are better. Pulse 106. His condition is satisfactory.

SAFELY LODGED.

The President safely arrived at Long Branch Cottage.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Sept. 6.—The train stopped again before the President's cottage was reached, this time directly south of the hotel. As it came to a standstill the people moved in the direction of the cars, but the vigilant troops quickly surrounded them, and kept the people off. Drs. Bliss and Agnew stood in the car door, and the faces of General Swain, Major Rockwell and Colonel Corbin could be seen anxiously looking out at the surroundings. Dr. Bliss shook hands with a small group of Washington friends, and said the President had endured the journey very well indeed; his pulse (said the doctor) has ranged between 102 and 110 all the way over. It was 110 the last time we took it. By looking through one of the car windows the President could be seen. He was lying on his back. Dr. Boynton was tending him. He moved his arm wearily over his head, as though brushing away flies, and then clasped his hand together. "He is all right," said the doctor. "He complains of the heat," said Colonel Corbin, and there truly was cause for the complaint.

There was only a short delay, but no noise or confusion. The cars were soon uncoupled, and the arms of willing and sympathetic men, unaided by the engine, quickly pushed Mrs. Garfield's car past the cottage while she and the ladies who accompanied her were resting upon the lawn. Many more than enough volunteers brought the President's car in position exactly before the high porch that looks out toward the ocean. The awning with hanging sides was in readiness and in a twinkling had been passed over the top of the car so as to form a covered way into the cottage. This was performed by a few soldiers and laborers who received explicit orders from Attorney General MacVeagh before the train arrived. The night being as that of the car when heavy wooden gang planks were thrust across the ten feet of intervening space there was an almost level passageway, perfectly protected from the blustering rays of the sun and screened from the curious gaze of hundreds of spectators from windows, doors, porticoes, and every available point of view afforded by the hotel and neighboring cottages as well as from the hollow square formed upon the lawn, and kept back ninety paces by military sentinels.

Thousands of eager eyes were intent upon the canvas-shaded passage through which the President was presently carried. Everything was so well arranged that it was the work of only a few minutes. First the light bodied upon which he was to be placed was carried from the car and placed in an upper chamber. People fancied they saw the wasted form stretched upon it, but they were mistaken. Seven pairs of sturdy arms bore him upon a litter fashioned for the special purpose of ease and prompt conveyance. The President looked a little weary, but as he passed into the cottage door his eyes opened and at most spoke the gratitude he felt in common with millions of his fellow citizens that the journey from the shores of the Potomac to this health-giving spot had been successfully accomplished.

The President was carried without trouble, except at one turn of the stairs, to the elegantly appointed chamber on the east side of the cottage, and was carefully transferred to the bed which he will hereafter occupy.

THE CABINET.

The Cabinet at the Branch. Watching the developments of the President's removal.

LONG BRANCH, Sept. 6.—The members of the cabinet arrived this afternoon from Washington, and were accompanied by Mrs. Bliss, Mrs. Windom, and Mrs. Hunt. Mrs. MacVeagh was already here, and Mrs. James came from New York by the 3:30 train. Secretary Lincoln is the guest of Mr. Pullman, and Attorney General MacVeagh occupies a cottage. The other members of the cabinet are quartered at the West End Hotel cottage. At 9:30 the members of the cabinet and their wives called at the Elberon, as they have been accustomed to do at the White House every evening. They all realize the gravity of the condition of the President, and look forward to the next twenty-four hours with a good deal of anxiety. Some of them said to-night that they felt a deep sense of relief at the satisfactory removal of the President, and looked forward to improvement in his condition as soon as the effects of the fatiguing journey is overcome.

There has been no discussion whatever among the members of the cabinet since their arrival here touching the question, disability, and the name of Vice President Arthur has not been mentioned in that connection. It is felt that the next day or two will practically decide whether the President will not live or whether his recovery will be prolonged through many weeks. The members of the cabinet will remain here several days, and then, if the President's condition shall justify it, some of them will take much-needed recreation elsewhere, and others will return to Washington.

THE INDIANS.

General McDowell's account of the 2 Indian Troubles in Arizona.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Official reports from General Carr on his recent fight with the Apaches have been forwarded by General McDowell.

The following has been received from General McDowell:
PACIFIC, SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—The outbreak in Arizona appears very general. Hostilities are reported along the Southern Pacific rail, from Wino to Bowie, a distance of 100 miles. They pursued the west bound train near Wino for six miles and attacked Fort Bowie the same night.

The railroad employees at Bowie station have been removed, and will not be returned until they are armed. The railroad officials are earnestly asking for the loan of arms and ammunition with which to protect their trains and stations for a few days. This request is respectfully referred to the secretary of war. I have a battalion of the Fourth artillery ready to dispatch, and then all but infantry companies—one at Gadsden, one at Billings, and one at McDowell. At Billings will have gone to Arizona. Nothing yet heard from Apache. I trust General Sheridan will be able to send troops by the Atlantic and Pacific to try and open communication with Apache from the north. It is surmised by the commanding officers that General Thomas had an attack on that point has been repulsed, but it was not known. It was occupied by a military company and contained a large quantity of arms, munitions, and supplies. Troops approaching the camp from the south. The Indians occupying Apache Cañon, the only approach to the post from the south. A large party of hostiles crossed the railroad yesterday between this point and San Simon, going north. This presents a very serious outlook, and gives rise to fears that the hostilities have been successful in the attacks on Apache, or expect to be.

DESERVED HIS WIFE.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 6.—George Swain, the young fellow whose wife attempted to elope with an Indianapolis jeweler, and who was arrested in Chicago ten days ago, deserted his wife in this city to-day, and has put out for parts unknown. The giddy young gentilities have been living here since the Chicago scandal. The fact was also developed to-day that Swain was married in June, 1878, to Miss Julia Davis, of Madison, whom he had no divorce when he married his present wife, who is an Indianapolis girl only 17 years old. To-day she applied to the agent of the Hannan Society, and transportation was given her to Indianapolis. Swain is accordingly a bigamist. The police are on his track.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

OSTKOSH, Sept. 6.—The twenty-third annual convocation of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar of Wisconsin began in Masonic Hall this morning. Soon after the call in order, in pursuance of arrangements made last evening, the Commandery formed in line and marched to the Trinity Episcopal church, where special services for the recovery of the President were held. Grand Prolate L. S. S. Balson, of Beaver Dam, officiated. After the services the return march was made, and the regular business proceeded. To-night the Grand Commander, O. F. G. Collins delivered the address. To-night a grand banquet and ball was given in the council chamber. Before the members present from the State organizations there are Y. T. Servens, of Chicago, and L. L. Mann, of Freeport.

POWDER EXPLOSION.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Sept. 6.—The packing-house of the Lake Superior Paper company, of this place, blew up at 8 o'clock this morning, and eleven young men employed in packing great powder cartridges were blown to atoms. Small pieces of their bodies were found in all directions. Nothing of the building was left, and nobody left to tell the cause of the accident.

No human agency can so speedily cleanse the blood, clear the complexion and skin, restore the hair and cure every species of itching, scaly and scrofulous humors of the skin, scalp and blood as the Cuticura Remedies.

CONTER.

—Everybody is hurrying their tobacco into the sheds so as to be able to attend the fair.

—Preaching at the Grove church last Sunday morning and evening.

—Quite a little sickness reported in the neighborhood, but nothing of an alarming nature at present.

—The tobacco crop in Conter is choice this season, being nearly perfect; 12½ cents seems to be the prevailing price this far with parties having sold.

—The Young America agricultural society delivered on their grounds, at the residence of Mr. Geo. Cleland's, 12,000 feet of lumber last Tuesday. The society feel very confident of making this their sixth exhibition, and believe everything of its nature in North America this season.

—The Hon. C. G. Williams delivers the annual address at the Young America fair.

—Those who are practicing for the prize offered for the best three holds wrestling at the Young America fair, should bear in mind that science knows just how to strip the shirts clear from its owner at one trip, and come prepared with tight.

—Samuel Cleland has the lumber on the ground for his new house. William Blair, of Janesville, is the party building, and will do a nice job.

—Mr. George Cleland received from Vermont a choice one year old marine buck last Thursday, for which he paid $100. It with his much noted flock of two wools will be on exhibition at the Young America fair. Come and see the best and largest flock of registered sheep in the State of Wisconsin.

—The young people exchange their literary faculties at the residence of Mr. Jervis Davis's next Friday evening. The corps of new officers are to be installed at this meeting.

—Lightning struck C. S. Crow's tobacco shed during the last thunder storm. No serious damage done to the building or weed.

—Center has several girls, any one of which is worthy of Peck's premium at the Rock county fair. The Rockland Center boys are aware of this fact or they wouldn't watch our little postoffice so close.

—Bailey S. Dean is expected in from Ohio this week to attend his aged father's birthday party.

A MECHANIC'S GOOD LUCK.

Reward for a kindly act by a Farmer of Over $7,000,000.

KIRKSTON, N. Y., September 1, 1881.—About three years ago, Thomas McDermott, an Irishman of an advanced age, came to this city in search of employment. He was in a state of abject poverty, and owing to the dullness of all business operations at that period, was unsuccessful in finding work. At length however a need came here, who was then engaged on the lake at the mouth of the Rondout creek, became interested in the man, and gave him work for a time. During this service the workman became strongly attached to his employer, spoke to him of his parents who resided in England, and confided in him generally, writing letters to his wife and children. In the spring of 1879 McDermott found a permanent employment on the Delaware and Hudson Canal, which, however, did not sever his friendship for his old employer. A year later a gentleman called upon the mechanic here, inquiring for McDermott, representing that a very wealthy uncle and having no legal descendants, had willed his immense fortune to him. After a long search McDermott was found. He at once sailed for the mother country and took possession of the legacy. While there his correspondence with his old employer here was kept up and the friendship grew stronger than ever.

In March last McDermott died. A month later the mechanic of this city who had befriended him in a trying hour was notified that his vast estate had been left to himself and wife. Since that time the necessary legal action has been taken, and on Tuesday last an English solicitor sailed for England with papers and full proofs of the estate. The estate is inventoried at $7,850,000. All that $83,000, which is devised to four other friends, will come to the mechanic and his wife. The foreign solicitor seemed fully confident that the will would be admitted to probate without contest on his return. The fortunate mechanic will sail for his new possessions when the proper time arrives. He has already received heavy cash offers for his chances, but prefers to abide all risks as yet.

Hazen on Vennor.

New York, Sept. 3.—General Hazen hasn't a very high opinion of Vennor, the weather prophet of Canada. Your readers can judge from his expressions on the subject. He says: "It is all nonsense to talk about Vennor. I won't say that he is a false prophet, it is not my part to accuse any one, but I will simply say that he has gained an undesired reputation. There is no probability of his being appointed Chief Officer, because, first he is not an American citizen, and secondly, because he knows nothing about the science. His theory is that seasons like history repeat themselves, and that the climatic changes of this year are merely repetitions of similar ones two or three years ago. He claims to be able to tell what will occur in the weather a month ahead. It is the rankest kind of nonsense, as no man can determine what will happen in the future further than the end of the country. We have telegrams to the number of 1,200 daily from all parts of the country giving detailed facts regarding the weather at the different points. We then are able to tell where it will rain, or blow, or shine the next day should nothing unexpected intervene. This is all we claim or have a right to claim. Should it rain in Pittsburgh to-day, and should the winds be favorable and traveling in the proper direction, we are almost sure that it will rain in New York to-morrow, but further than that we know absolutely nothing. The best instance of this which happened lately is the cyclone which visited the West Indies some days before it struck Cuba. We had advised the authorities that it was on its way. We received a dispatch from St. Thomas, and we followed it. In this way we can prevent much destruction of property, and life. Do you mean to say that Vennor can have done this? How could he, as he is not informed, receives no advices from any part of the country, and the whole foundation of his reputation is made up of a tissue of lucky guess work?"

A Boy's Vacation.

A smart boy, who seems nearly destitute of holiness, is up in the country spending his vacation. If he don't make things lively and bring his parents to grief before the summer wanes away it will be wonderfully remarkable. Here is a letter written by him to a schoolmate in Cambridge: "This is the best place in the world to have fun. There is six of us fellows, and an old man who lives here said he wished we were all in hell; we threw his wheelbarrow into a well and he couldn't get it out and that is what made him swear. I got a fish hook stuck into my nose and don't you forget it ain't sore. The farmer folks put tin pans out in the sun to dry, and they are sick past to hold milk after we jab some holes in 'em. The farmers mow down with a horse-rake and scatter it around with a gun and pile it up with a machine. Griddle got one of his legs in a hay machine and got cut with a mouse, and when he gets home he won't have any leg, only one; he'll be a healthy kid to play base-ball. There was a great storm when Jimmie's mother came and found him crazy, he was so sick; he got four many convulsions and two quarts of huckleberries, and I et more'n he did. I want you to see Hickey and swap my rabbits for his gun. We fired a pistol four times at a cow yesterday and didn't kill her. Pistols ain't no good for game. We dived six hens in a brook yesterday; it was sport to see 'em flop around. We shall drowned some more to-morrow and we shall drowned some more every day. The doctor has cured Jimmie and his mother is goin' to take him home. But here is something funny: Jimmie put some squirrels in his trunk and they got in his clothes up. When you send the gun send a lot of powder and a lot of matches. We are goin' camp out next week."

THE SWEETEST THING IN LIFE.

The sweetest thing in life is love. It is love that makes the world a better place. It is love that makes the heart a home. It is love that makes the soul a temple. It is love that makes the life a journey. It is love that makes the world a better place. It is love that makes the heart a home. It is love that makes the soul a temple. It is love that makes the life a journey.

MR. BRADLEY AS AN UMPIRE.

The other day I went into Mr. Bradley's store. I recollect it was a day or so after the Fourth of July. Mr. Bradley is engaged in a large wholesale business, and generally scores off his customers. He is a man of a very disagreeable appearance for a man of his mercantile standing. One day he was covered completely by a green shade, while the other exhibited evident marks of confusion; in fact, a beautiful circle of black and blue.

He proceeded to bathe one swollen cheek with a bottle which was handy, and burst out: "Do you like base-ball?" I said I did; I considered it a very nice and healthy game. Until I had broken my nose, and a rib or so, I was passionately fond of base-ball. I am fond of it yet—at a distance. The further the distance, the greater my fondness.

Mr. Bradley remarked a remark which is not polite for me to repeat. I was really shocked at Mr. Bradley. "Blank base-ball!" said he, with decided emphasis. Of course I was curious. "Why blank base-ball?" I queried. "I will tell you," was his answer. "But you must excuse me if I slip, for four of my front teeth are knocked out, and my upper gum is cracked. These accidents are not apt to give me a voice a silvery or bell-like sound."

MISCELLANEOUS.

"You ought to get a pair of new eyes," he said; "that was out, plain as day."

"So it was," cried the pitcher, who has been with me for ten years. "Anybody but an old dotard could see it was out plain; wasn't it, boys?"

"The boys—the boys of his side—all said 'yes,' of course, and suggested putting up a wooden man as an umpire; and my youngest errand boy, who was soaking out in the center field, said I ought to buy a piece of smoked glass to see through. I discharged him right away."

"Then Merrill (he's red-headed, and gets mad easy), went to the bat. He made a foul—I say it was a foul, and I know it—and I said it was out, because the catcher caught it."

"Foul—out!" I cried. "What?" gasped Merrill. "Foul—out!" repeated. "Do you call that a foul?" "I do."

"Mr. Bradley, you're crazy! It was not a foul." "It was." "Don't you contradict me, Merrill." "I will, if you say that's a foul. You're a driving jackass!"

INCIDENTS.

The city fathers assemble to-night.

What a fall is this, my countrymen, for the mercury to take!

F. B. Winslow now puts onto the street an attractive new delivery wagon for his C. O. D. store.

The Boston Job Lot store will open for business at the old Centennial store, Main street, on Saturday.

The concert given by the Bower City band in the park last evening was an excellent one, but was not largely attended.

M. C. Smith & Son are to open an exposition in Janesville which merits attention: They tell about it in another column.

A number of the Janesville folk went to Beloit to-day to attend the Fair there, and many more will go to-morrow, that being the big day.

Beloit has decided to buy a pile of dirt at an expense not to exceed $200, and to expend $500 in repairing the bridge damaged last spring.

Many of the old residents will be saddened at learning of the death of Joseph P. Sears, who formerly lived here, and who died in Denver recently.

The case of Bear & Hill vs. Schutt is to-day occupying the attention of Justice Prichard, a jury of six, Attorneys Smith & Bates, and several witnesses.

Mrs. O'Connor, who attempted suicide at the jail, is better, but still gives plain signs of insanity, and it is thought she will have to be removed to some insane asylum.

There has been such an improvement in the condition of Hanley, the man injured by falling from the round house, that there seems good reason to believe he will recover.

The "Iron Mask" combination is to open its season in Janesville in October and then gradually work eastward, reversing the usual order by which companies open in the east and work westward.

The heavy curved plate in the front of Jackman's elegant horse slipped out of place as Johnson was driving along on a return trip from the cemetery, but Johnson quickly caught it, and saved a costly smash of glass.

A switch engine at Fond du Lac backed a car into the engine of the train from the north, last night, so as to cause some trouble and a little delay, though the passengers arrived here this morning about on time. The mail did not reach here, however.

Mrs. Abbie Carrington, the favorite soprano, and now prima donna for the Soprano opera company, to be associated with Geister during the coming season, is in the city, accompanied by her husband, they being the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Norris.

A private letter from Burr Robbins says that he has been seriously ill, and he feared that he was to be completely paralyzed. He had not left his car for ten days, and wrote this letter while lying on his back in his berth. He reports business as unusually fine though.

St. Patrick's T. A. & B. society are to give an enjoyable dance at Apollo hall next Wednesday evening. Anderson's band is to furnish the music, and tickets are only 50 cents. Extensive and careful arrangements are being made to render the affair a success in all respects.

Ed. Habbell, who escaped from the jail last May, was recaptured last evening by Sheriff Skavlen, who found him working in tobacco near Edgerton, and under an assumed name. When Ed. escaped he had served but eight out of the sixty days for which he was sentenced for assault. He will be more closely watched now.

This morning the remains of the late Rev. Henry Cowles, D. D., were taken to Oberlin, O., his old home, accompanied by his daughter Mrs. Little and other relatives. There was only a brief service at the Institution for the Blind, conducted by Rev. Dr. Hodge. The sympathy of many here will go forth with the friends on this sad journey.

The Wallace Sisters who are to appear at the Opera house here next Saturday evening are the Fair favorites. They are engaged to play during the Beloit Fair, also during the Oaklough Fair, and the State Fair at Fond du Lac, this season. The play which is to be given here, "Minnie's Luck," is a lively showing of the ups and downs of New York life, and promises to be decidedly entertaining. The company is well selected and every indication points to the fact that there will be a good show and a good audience. The sale of tickets has commenced at Prouty & Evenson's.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVENSON, DAUGHTERS.

The thermometer at 6 o'clock last night stood at 89 degrees above; at 1 o'clock a. m. to-day, at 77 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a. m. at 60 degrees above; and at 1 o'clock p. m. at 69 degrees above. Cloudy.

The indications to-day are, partly cloudy weather, local rains, southerly, shifting to cooler northerly winds, and higher barometer.

"Lindsey's Blood Searcher"—the great medicine for fever and ague, malaria, and all blood poison. Don't fail to use it.

THE CATHOLIC JUBILEE.

The Jubilee at St. Mary's church is well attended. Rev. Rosenbower, C. S.
S. R., a missionary priest of Chicago Ill., is giving the instructions, and is assisted by the two city pastors of the Roman Catholic churches, Rev. Father
McGinnity and Rev. Father Manich.
Rev. Father Wryn, of Monroe, sang high mass this morning, and is assisting during the whole jubilee. Rev. Father

—Prof. Severance, of Milwaukee, is to occupy Apollo hall again during the coming season, and resume his instruction in dancing. He has successfully instructed classes here for six years past, and besides providing a large number of enjoyable parties, has introduced many new dances, and has by his instructions in etiquette and graceful movements added much to the refinement as well as enjoyment of Janesville society. Each season brings to him a larger and more liberal patronage, and it is to be hoped that the coming one may prove no exception.

—It has been somewhat of a mystery as to why the postoffice is not cleaned up, and a public sale made of the real estate which has accumulated on the windows, but it is solved now. The powers that be say that a man was engaged to clear out the filth, but that the Gazette happened to suggest that such a move would be agreeable to the citizens, and the man was then told not to go on with the work, in order that the public might fully realize that the United States government was bigger than any newspaper. As a result the filth still clings and the postoffice is getting farther and farther away from that godliness to which cleanliness is a most devout virtue.

—This forenoon a disastrous fire occurred on the farm of Frank Mitchell, in the town of Richmond, occupied by Ambrose Hara. A spark from the engine while threshing was the cause, and by the blaze five stacks of barley and three of wheat were destroyed, together with the separator and the attendant machinery.

—The mercury during the night fell about thirty degrees. A dry goods clerk thinks it fell farther than that, by the way he felt. It was so warm last night that he walked home in his shirt sleeves, leaving his coat at the store. This morning he came down in like fashion, having no coat at home to put on. By the time he reached the store he was badly shaked up. Shirt sleeves make rather a light wardrobe to rely on in such changeable weather as this season brings. He will hereafter either take his coat with him or have his garments stored at each end of his route.

"PI."

Josh Billings says: "There ain't no pi in natural history that has been of more, and that more oft than apple pi, and no medicine can cure indigestion and biliousness but so well as Seaton's Emulsion." Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents.

Sold by A. J. Roberts, and Sherer & Co.
